Accommodation
Copenhagen offers a good range of hotel, hostel, and Airbnb.com options (and in Denmark, Airbnb is carefully regulated). The hotels and hostels below are all within walking distance of the conference venue (H.C. Ørsted Institute, Universitetsparken 5, 2100 København) or short walking distance of Nørreport Station (St.), from where it is easy to get a bus to the venue.

Hotels and hostels
Within 15-20 minutes walking distance to the conference venue:
Rye115 hotel
M18 Hotel

Within 5 min walk to Nørreport St. where bus line 150S takes you straight to the conference venue (see details below, under Transportation):
Hotel Jørgensen
Hotel Windsor
Ibsens Hotel
Hotel Kong Arthur

You can also look for accommodation along the metro line M3, as the conference venue is a 5 min. walk south along Nørre Allé from Vibenshus Runddel St. where metro line M3 stops. See map showing the venue and Vibenshus Runddel St. on page 3 and the metro line map at the end of this document.

Transportation
From the Central Train Station
All S-train lines that pass the Central Train Station going north (see map at the very end of this document) stop at Nørreport St. From Nørreport St. bus line 150S towards “Kokkedal St.” goes every 10 minutes; the conference venue is the fourth stop called “Universitetsparken” (takes app. 8 minutes).

From the airport
The quickest and cheapest way into the city from the airport is via the metro. All the Metro lines go in the same direction from the airport (M2 to Vanløse Station), and stop at, among other, Nørreport St., so you do not have to worry about getting on the wrong metro line!
In the city
The following webpage is useful for checking public transportation options, times and prices: http://journeyplanner.dk/ English available.

Prices and tickets
Public transport in Copenhagen is mostly fast and efficient, though a bit expensive. Buses, metro trains and S-trains all run on the same tickets. A single ticket within town is 24kr (2 zones minimum), a 3 zone ticket (e.g. from the airport) is 36 kr – or about 5 euro. Using train or metro you will have to buy a ticket before entering. You can buy this from the ticket machines at the stations (incl. at the airport stations) or at 7-Eleven kiosks. In the bus you can also buy the ticket from the driver – remember cash. Travelling without a ticket risks a fine of 750 DKK.

We recommend that you use the "DOT Tickets". In the DOT Tickets app or online here you can buy a 48/72 hour ticket for 150/200 DKK giving you free public transport to/from the airport and the parts of the city where hotels/conference venue are located. It’s called ‘City Pass Small’.

Taxis
Taxis all have meters and are very expensive. From the airport it will cost approximately 250-300 DKK. Uber is currently not operating in Denmark.

Bicycle rental
Biking is an excellent way of getting around in Copenhagen. There are countless rental shops. Below we have just listed a few as examples.

Bycyklen: Public bicycles can be rented for 25 DDK per hour from special bicycle racks across the city centre. See more details here: www.bycyklen.dk/en/.

Donkey Bikes: 1 day for 100 DKK or 3 days for 240 DKK https://www.donkey.bike/?utm_campaign=mapcity1&utm_medium=maps&utm_source=google&utm_content=hub119

Copenhagen Bikes: 24 hours for 110 DKK http://copenhagenbikes.dk/

Ask the rental shop assistant to give you an introduction to the rules and customs when biking in Copenhagen! Here are the city’s ‘official’ biking rules in English: http://international.kk.dk/sites/international.kk.dk/files/i bike_turistfolder_engelsk-tysk.pdf

How to get to the venue

By metro
Vibenshus Runddel St. is the closest metro station to the venue and metro line M3 stops here (also stops at the Central Train St.). It is a 5 minute walk from Vibenshus Runddel St. to the conference venue south along Nørre Allé. See map above and the metro line map at the end of this document.

By bus
From Nørreport station you can take bus 150S towards “Kokkedal St.” goes every 10 minutes and the conference venue stop “Universitetsparken” is the fourth stop (takes app. 8 minutes).

Money
Danish kroner (DKK or kr.) are the currency in Denmark and other currencies are not accepted. Most shops and restaurants accept foreign credit cards (but may change a fee), but smaller shops and cafes may not. It is therefore advisable to carry some cash in Danish kroner. You can withdraw cash from ATM machines all around the city centre. Banks are open from 10am to 4 pm on weekdays. There are a number of currency exchange shops at the airport and in the city centre with longer opening hours.
Food and drinks at the conference

On the days of the conference, coffee/tea, snacks and lunches will be provided. On Thursday the 16th there is a conference dinner at Peter Lieps Hus in the Deer Park north of Copenhagen. We will spend the afternoon before the dinner at the Deer Park for an excursion. Details on how to get there and back will be provided at the conference.

Danish tap water is of excellent quality. We urge you to bring your own water bottle that can be refilled.

Excursion

Thursday we’ll have an outdoors excursion to the Deer Park north of Copenhagen ending with a conference dinner at Peter Lieps Hus. Please come prepared with good walking shoes, warm and rainproof clothes (and/or an umbrella).

Tourism

Information on tourist sights and attractions can be found at www.visitcopenhagen.com.

Weather

Average temperature for Copenhagen in May is 11°C (50°F). Be sure to bring a warm coat and sweater. Rain showers are frequent so we encourage rain coats and umbrellas (though it’s also often windy!). Local weather forecasts can be found at: http://www.dmi.dk/vejr/til-lands/byvejr/by/vis/DK/1000/K%C3%B8benhavn,%20Danmark/

Shops

Normal opening hours for shops are Monday to Friday from 10am to 6 pm (supermarkets often 8 or 9 am to 10 pm), Saturdays from 10am to 4 pm. Sunday most shops are closed, albeit many shops in the city centre will remain open.
